

Adults ADHD Services Review

Since 2019 the demand for ADHD services has grown.

Waiting List

There are 15,000 adults on a waiting list for support or a diagnosis.

It would take 7 years just to meet the needs of these people.

Waiting List

The waiting list grows by 1500 referrals per month.

The cost of running these services is 12 million pounds.

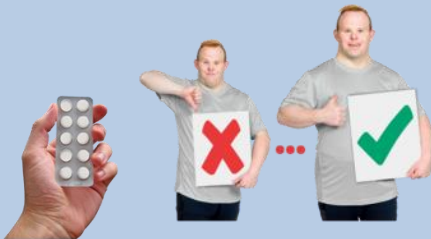

If the service just dealt with the 15,000 people waiting it would cost 8 million pounds more.

Medicines are important for those who most need them.

The medicines we give are running low.

This may be because we have been over prescribing.

We need to make sure the people who need them most get them.

We need to review how we run these services.

We want to know your thoughts on ADHD services.

It is important to us that we talk with people who have ADHD.

We also want to hear from people who support people with ADHD.

We will be setting up a group for people who want to talk to us.

We will call this a “lived experience group.”

This group will talk about things like:

- What people with ADHD need from services.
- Help us with ideas.
- How we may change the services.

We want you to help us look at new ways of working.

Please share how you feel, your thoughts as well as your experience of ADHD services.

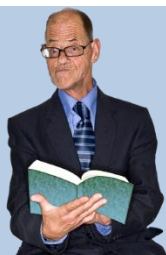

Help us by answering some questions.

The survey will stop on Sunday 24th March 2024.

After the 24th March, we will look at the answers.

We will make a report that tells you what people have told us.

If you want to get a copy of the report let us know.

If you want to speak to someone about the survey please let us know:
